FEBRUARY UPDATE

When considering February's data, it is important to remember that 2024 was a leap year and 2025 is not. This means that February 2025 was one day shorter than February 2024. We would therefore expect that sales in February 2025 would be around -3.4% lower than February 2024 if the average daily sales were the same.